

OUT AGAIN! DOWN AGAIN! IN AGAIN! HOOLIGAN!

GOODRICH MUDD CAME DOWN WITH A THUD!

TOBACCO TALK.

"Let us tobacco manufacturers get up a huge pipe to show that our industry cannot be beaten."
"Just get a big horn, signifying a plug."

A REAL MEAN JOKE.

Uncle Charles: "I don't know as you will thank me for interfering, Ellen, but they tell me this Mr. Cushman you are going to marry is utterly worthless."
Ellen: "Why, Uncle Charles?"
Uncle Charles: "Not in a boundary sense, you know—he's got money enough, but from an intellectual point of view."
Ellen: "Oh, Uncle Charles, you don't know what a turn you gave me!"—Chicago News.

Chilly, but Not Dangerous.
"Is there much danger from icebergs?"
"I think it is overestimated, my son. I know men who married Boston girls years ago and are alive and well to-day."—New York Press.

A CHARITABLE WIFE.

She: "Mrs. Newcomb just told me she had been away for complete rest."
He: "Well, I hope no one else has been to the same place on that errand."

WANTED A CHANGE.

Wearman: "Is this the office of Quaker's Quick Cure?"
Patent Medicine Man: "Yes."
"I want six bottles for my wife."
"I tried all other remedies without success."
"No, she ain't ill at all, but I saw in your advertisement where a woman wrote, after taking six bottles, 'I am a different woman, and I have hope.'—Answers."
The Hoosier Girl's Coup.
A Hoosier girl down in Peru bought some chickens—I think it was tu. Said the girl, "In Vincesona I learned how to set henpins." Then she tried it, but one of them cru. —Kansas City Telegram.

OBJECTION OVERULED.

"These shrimps are very small, waiter."
"Yes, sir."
"And they don't seem very fresh, either."
"Then it's a good job they're small, ain't it, sir?"

WHY HE APPLAUDED.

Friend (at a French play): "Why did you applaud so vigorously when that comedian made his speech before the curtain?"
Springing (confidentially): "So that folks would think I understood French. What did he say?"
Friend: "He said the remainder of his part must be taken by an understudy, as his mother was dying."—Answers.
Nicholas of Russia.
"The Great White Bear"—they call him so.
It is false when the words are said.
For the Bear to-day.
In his imbecile way.
Is red, red, RED. —New York Press.

THE BIRTH OF A MESSAGE.

Aunt Betinda: "Ain't she sweet-looking?"
An' 600 years old, too?"
Uncle Eli: "Let that be a lesson to ye. Ye've always gittin' nutty if anybody hints yer more'n 25."—Chicago News.
